

I am at Boston Children's Hospital so I can feel better. Many things will happen while I am at the hospital

I will stay in a new room at the hospital. I have so many fun things inside my room like my bed, my TV, my Legos, and lots of toys!

Mom and Dad will be with me at the hospital.
I will meet many new people too. I will meet doctors and nurses and other new friends who will help take care of me at the hospital.

Sometimes I have to do things that I don't like when I am at the hospital. Maybe I will need special tubes on my body. Maybe I will need special tape on my body too. If I feel sad about the tubes and tape, I can tell Mom and Dad.

Sometimes my nurses have to check my body with special tools. They will take my temperature in my ear and listen to my stomach, chest, and back with a stethoscope. Sometimes, I also need to wear a blood pressure cuff.

The blood pressure cuff can feel funny and tight, but I will always be safe! Using the cuff is fast and when I'm done, maybe I can go back to playing or doing something I like.

Sometimes, my nurses have to come into my room when I am sleeping. Maybe I will wake up when they come into my room to check my body. It's okay if I wake up. Mom or Dad will be with me too, so I can feel safe and happy at night.

Sometimes my doctors come into my room to check my body and talk with Mom and Dad. Maybe there will be a lot of doctors or maybe there will just be 1 or 2. It's okay if lots of people are in my room. They are here to help me feel healthy and strong!

While I am at the hospital, lots of fun things will happen too! Maybe I will go to the playroom, go for walks, play with my toys, listen to music, watch TV and movies, and do special activities! Being at the hospital can be fun too!
